MARCH 29 (legislative day, MARCH 27), 1995.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. HELMS, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, submitted the following

REPORT

INTRODUCTION BY SENATOR JESSE HELMS CHAIRMAN, COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS

This compilation of activities of the Committee on Foreign Relations during the 103rd Congress is submitted in response to the requirements of Rule XXVI 8(b) of the Standing Rules of the Senate, which provides that each standing committee report to the Senate, not later than March 31 of each odd-numbered year, on its legislative activities during the preceding Congress.

The Committee on Foreign Relations undertook a full schedule during the 103rd Congress, including legislation, review of treaties and nominations to positions in foreign affairs, hearings touching upon a variety of issues, and general oversight of foreign policy. The Committee commenced its first month of the 103rd Congress with three days of extensive hearings to consider the nominations of Secretary of State Warren Christopher and United Nations Ambassador Madeleine K. Albright. The Committee examined the United States policy toward Bosnia early in the 103rd Congress, and conducted hearings to gather an overview of U.S. foreign policy. Other hearings during the 103rd Congress addressed several important foreign policy issues facing the United States: Policy Toward Africa, Vietnam, the Middle East Peace Process, NATO, Transnational Crime, China, Haiti, Central America, and the North Korea Nuclear Agreement.

The Committee effectively fulfilled its oversight responsibility with respect to management of legislation to authorize appropriations for the Department of State, the United States Information Agency, the Agency for International Development, the Peace Corps, the Board for International Broadcasting, and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Legislation reported by the Committee to the Senate also included legislation to authorize appropriations for foreign assistance programs, to revise obsolete laws related to the Cold War, to implement the North American Free Trade Agreement, and to extend the authorities of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation through fiscal year 1995.

Seventy-six treaties were pending before the Committee during the 103d Congress, and thirty of those were reported favorably by the Committee. Many of the bilateral agreements to protect United States business investments abroad and to avoid double taxation of foreign income were favorably reported and ratified by the Senate. Also considered and recommended by the Committee and ratified by the Senate were: the Treaty on Open Skies, the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination, and an Amendment to the Montreal Protocol on Substances that Deplete the Ozone Layer.

The Committee considered 248 nominees to positions in foreign affairs during the 103rd Congress, 118 of whom were nominated as country Ambassadors. The Committee favorably referred 242 nominees to the full Senate for advice and consent. Twenty-six representatives to conferences were referred to the Committee, 22 of whom were reported favorably. The Committee further confirmed 1,704 of the 1,705 Foreign Service Officers referred to the Committee for promotion.

The Committee conducted 171 full Committee meetings and 53 subcommittee meetings. On 82 occasions the Committee received foreign heads of State and senior officials from foreign governments. The Committee produced 29 reports which addressed a broad spectrum of issues, encompassing, but not limited to, the Middle East, the Bosnian Republic, Reform of United Nations Peacekeeping, Assistance to the Newly Independent States, and Confiscated Property of American Citizens Overseas.

I thank my colleagues and our respective staffs for their contributions to the Committee. The Committee was productive because of their efforts. I particularly express my appreciation to my able colleague, Senator Claiborne Pell, for his leadership as Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee during the 103rd Congress.
